Prince Alexander, who was born in a rich and powerful family, was the king and ruler of the kingdom. He lived to be 125 years old, and was the eldest member of his family. His family had grown up in a beautiful castle in the countryside, where he was the favorite son. His sister Princess Isabella, a childless princess who did not live to be much older, was the eldest of her three siblings. At a young age, the youngest of the three sisters was very prone to misbehavior and was determined to be a good citizen. One day, they lived next door to a famous frog who owned the best property in the woods. It was a young frog, named Lucien. It could walk through any gate and sway very quickly. The frog had magical properties, and Lucien was the frog's guardian. His magic was a constant force in the forest and he used it to summon people to live happily ever after. The frog was the only frog in the forest, and it was believed to be the best source of food for the frog, enticing the frog to take a bite. The frog, Lucien, was a mystical creature and its unique ability led to the discovery of the secret to happiness. The frog was a rare jewel to possess, and was believed to be a source of abundance and prosperity. One day, Prince Alexander went to visit a frog in a park, where his father had once seen a frog at a park. He was excited to be invited to go and look at it. The frog, named Lucien, was a sweet, friendly frog that was prone to mimicking the frog. Prince Edward was also a young frog who liked to be admired and took pride in his great accomplishments. He was a talented scholar who also had a very privileged past. Together, they had to embark on a journey to find Lucien's secret. They began by travelling through a beautiful and historic enchanted forest to a mystical frog. They made their way into a forest that was filled with ancient trees and a magical frog
